The First Vice Minister of the Ministry of Transportation Marta Oramas commented in her closing words on a phrase from the Apostle that leads us to reflect on a day with as much historical charge as June 14, she said: “the virtuous heart lights up with recognition.” and considered that audacity, discipline, sense of belonging, among other qualities; make Caribbean Drydock Company, S. A. or CDC S.A - as most people know it - worthy of having been the venue for the National Act in commemoration of Maritime Port Worker Day.

The event was chaired by representative figures from the different government structures of our country, as well as union leaders and main directors of the Higher Business Development Organization of the Maritime Port Group (GEMAR).

The cultural moment of the activity delighted the auditorium, this time made up of good men and women, whose daily life is closely linked to naval activity and the sea. The space was conducive to delivering different decorations such as:

- Recognition of life's work for remaining more than 50 years in the field was one of the first distinctions awarded to six colleagues.

- 85th anniversary stamp of the CTC for his merits to his colleague Ángel Luis Domínguez Rodríguez

- Condition José María Capote to Ricardo Maldonado Olivares, General Secretary of the Unitary Federation of Transport and Communications Workers (FUTAC).

To close the event, CDC S.A. It was awarded as a company for its results in 2023, which made it possible to hold the event in this space.
