On June 28th, we will celebrate Transport Workers' Day, and these days leading up to this important date are the perfect time to reflect on the incalculable value of those who keep our lives running.

As you read this, thousands of drivers, logistics operators, couriers, technicians, pilots, seafarers, and fleet managers are paving the way: inspecting vehicles, optimizing routes, loading cargo, and planning trips. Their silent work, today and always, is the bridge that unites products, people, and dreams. The 28th will be their day, but today begins our recognition.
